WHEN AN EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PACKAGE ISN'T ENOUGH

One misjudged skateboard jump left Trevor with a broken arm and two broken teeth. He'll be OK, but his parents had to pay for a fibreglass cast, prescription drugs and dental work.

His dad's employer group plan covered part of the expenses. However, after deductibles and policy maximums were applied, they were still out-of-pocket over $750. Luckily, Trevor's parents had purchased an IAP Kids Plus™ Accident Insurance policy. They were reimbursed the remaining $750, PLUS a fracture benefit of $175 for the broken arm. Trevor has already forgotten the physical pain caused by his accident and now his mom and dad can forget the financial pain too!
