

University Canada West Bachelor and Master Degree Programs
Online Information Sessions available.

University Canada West (UCW) is an accredited Canadian university with programs offered in Vancouver, Victoria, and online. The University caters to working professionals who are looking for a flexible education that fits seamlessly into their careers. UCW's five-term academic year allows students to complete more courses per school year than the standard three-semester academic year at most universities. This, in turn, allows a student to earn their degree in as little as two years.

University Canada West offers accelerated and two year Master of Business Administration (MBA) programs which are structured to allow flexibility for working learners. The program prepares managers and administrators for leadership roles in their districts and executives for new levels of leadership in their careers. The University also offers Bachelor of Commerce in General Studies and Bachelor of Arts in Media Communications programs (both with Degree Completion options) for administrators who are looking at completing their degree part-time.

University Canada West's online program options allow students to pursue their education without having to attend classes on-campus. That flexibility, combined with practical curricula and world-class instruction, means students get the education they want, when they want it.
